

 All prophecies delivered at Sunday Night Praise & Worship Gathering unless otherwise indicated.*

01.06.2019

Rick McKinney

Do not be afraid, my little ones. If I can lead the wise men across miles and miles of desert, I can lead you to the place I have set aside for you. I have all power, all wisdom, all love for you. Don't be afraid; I am with you.

01.20.2019

Tom Stief

Mercy, show mercy to my people. Comfort those who are afflicted, and provide for one another's material needs. In this way, you will truly be sons of my Father.

Rick McKinney

My beloved ones, do not say in your hearts that the age of renewal, the age of revival, the age of the closer walk, has passed in your lives, for I have prepared a new wine my beloved ones. I have prepared a banquet of fruitfulness for my children. If you humble yourselves, if you sacrifice your attachments, you will find that I have kept the best wine until now, the best harvest, the best gifts, the best fruit, yes, the best wine until now.

01.27.2019

Kinday Toto

My children, pray that your hearts may be open to receive the new. I have set you as a light on the hill. I desire to use each one of you to bring my kingdom to all. I am setting the earth ablaze with tangible manifestations of my presence through every single one of you. Amen, amen, I say to you, I am setting the earth on fire.

02.10.2019

Rick McKinney

My beloved ones, my servants Peter and Isaiah were not particularly gifted, nor were they particularly holy. But when I called them by name to the task I had given them, they responded to my voice. My beloved ones, I call each of you by name. Have you not heard my voice? Your task is to respond to what I have already shown you.

Kinday Toto

I sense the Lord is wanting us to know that this is a season of alignment with Him, to bring about His glory and His kingdom. So I encourage you to just seek his presence and ask him where you need to be aligned with him.

Mark G.

My children, look not to the right or to the left, the east or the west. Look to me, your Lord. Your Lord who rules above all the universe, who makes all things new for you. Look now to your risen Lord, the risen Lord of your life who rules above all powers and principalities. And you will learn to see and hear my Spirit recreating things in your life. I am enthroned Lord above all the nations. I am enthroned in glory and power, and come to you tonight that you might receive fresh water of my living Spirit. My Spirit makes the impossible, possible in your life. Rejoice in this knowledge, that you are my chosen people, and from this day forth, ask again that you might see me enthroned above all in your life. You are my people, and I call each of you. Again, each morning cry out to me, first thing in the morning. I am about to do new things with you, so do not lose heart. Know that I am leading this community as you seek the Spirit-life together. I desire to do mighty works by my Holy Spirit power.

02.24.2019

Sarah Singer

My children, do not hesitate to come to me with your needs. I am an attentive Lord, God, Savior and King. I remember your hearts' desires. Come to me, I hear and listen. I will respond. You say, I do not hear your response, but I tell you, look to times past, see how my love has brought you safe to this point. Open up your hearts to me, and the others I give you. Life will spring up in your hearts; have confidence in me and how my plans for you will work out in the end. See the whole picture. I am your Lord, God, Savior and Friend.

04.14.2019

Rick McKinney

My beloved can you not see the beauty of my son's brokenness? Can you not see the gift of my son's emptying self-giveness? Can you not see the brutal beastliness of your own self-will? Can you not see the love of My son's loving kindness? My beloved, the cross is where heaven meets earth and love meets death.

06.02.2019

Rick McKinney

My beloved children, when my son parted from his disciples and was taken up into heaven his hands were raised in blessing. In like manner my son's arms were outstretched in blessing when he departed from his mortal life on the cross. My beloved children, the promise of the Father and the Son is the blessing of the Holy Spirit whose wings are even now outstretched in love. Be filled with the Spirit my beloved children over and over again. This is your blessing. Be filled with the Holy Spirit.

June 2019

Tom Stief

Make me known again – in your families, at work, in the store. People need to know me – not just to know about me – but also to experience my personal presence, attention, and love. Make me known.

06.23.2019

Rick McKinney

Brothers and Sisters, Consider the humility of Jesus, our Lord and Savior, who on the night he was betrayed allowed himself to be handed over again and again – first to the Father’s will, then to a betrayer’s kiss, to the temple guards, to the Sanhedrin, to Pilate, to Herod, back to Pilate, to the pitiless scourgers, to the contemptuous thorn crowners, back to Pilate, to the crowd that shouted “crucify him,” to abusive soldiers on his final walk, to the hammer and nails of his crucifiers, to that cruel cross, to the mocking onlookers, to painful death, to Mary’s lap, to the hands of Joseph of Arimathea and Nicodemus, to that dark tomb, and even now he allows himself to be handed over again and again at Mass with the simple words, “the Body of Christ,” and “the Blood of Christ.” Brothers and sisters, if Jesus, the Son of God, so humbles himself to be continually handed over so many times should we not also, with God’s grace, so humble ourselves in our walk, in our thoughts and in our words to one another and to our neighbor for whom Christ, out of love, was handed over and gave his own life? Come now sisters and brothers, let us follow our Lord and Savior in trust and in humility.

07.21.2019

Sarah Singer

Never be afraid! I am with you in all moments, in all difficulties, in all trials, in all temptations, in moments of fear, confusion and pain. I am with you in moments of joy and thanksgiving. Trust me, my children. Come to me in trust, knowing that I love you, always. I am your Lord and Savior, strength, joy and love in all times and occasions – be at peace, my children.

08.18.2019

Rick McKinney

Brothers and sisters, it is written in John 17 verse 24 that you loved me (i.e. Jesus) before the foundation of the world and that you loved them (i.e. the believers consecrated in truth) even as you loved me (verse 23). St. Paul writes in Ephesians 1 verse 4 that He chose us in Him before the foundation of the world to be holy and without blemish before Him. Brothers and sisters, it is our sure foundation that the God who loves us before the foundation of the world is the same God who bled and died for us on the cross and same God who will present us before His throne in heaven without spot or blemish. This amazing God of love is eternally present and working in our past, in our present, and in our future. We can bank on it. We can trust this God of love. We can yield ourselves to the Spirit’s work within and among us even if it hurts as if by fire. Let us not resist this divine lover.

10.13.2019

Elaine Schneider

This is a new day; behold, I make all things new. You are not to fear, little one. When the evil one speaks lies, you are not to fall prey to random thoughts of belittlement. I have called you into life; you are my beloved one, and your worth is precious to me. Do not fall back into old ways of acting, of hiding, and fearing others, of questioning your own worth. You are to stay small, not puffed up in fake pride or hiding in a false humility. But small, and humble before my eyes. Come now, use your gifts which I have planted in you. Use these gifts to bring honor and glory to my name. The harvest is here. Go out together and bring in the harvest. Weeds and wheat have grown up together. Sort out the wheat, burn the weeds. The harvest is abundant, but the laborers are few. Work in my church and bring in the harvest.

(not sure of speaker identity)

Listen all my people, all who are called by my name, all whom I have saved and anointed with my love and with power. There is a difficult time coming for all this country, but I have raised you up to be a people who will serve those who are in need. Do not say I am too young, for I can use anyone. Do not say I am too old, because if I have not taken you home, I have work for you to do. Do not say I am too weak, for I will be your strength. Do not say that I am not smart enough, for my spirit will pour forth words from you that you never knew were there. Rest in me, pray constantly, for I will fill you with my spirit. You are my people, it is you that I have raised up, to go and serve those who are going to be so much in need: the lonely, the poor, the hungry, those who I hear their cries every night, every day, every second, and I have raised you up that you might go serve them. So may your feet be swift to go where I direct you, may your hands and arms be strong in the spirit that I place in you to reach out to them. Listen with the ears that I have given you, and you will see with your eyes what I show before you, the needs that need to be done. Do not tell me it will be a miracle to do this or that; I am the Lord of miracles, you are in the kingdom of your savior! The kingdom of God is yours! And all, all of that power, and all of those resources are at your disposal. So rejoice, even if you see tough times, rejoice because you know the truth, you know that you have been set free and that I send you forth to set others free and to feed their needs, and to bring them to true knowledge and faith in me. Let your hearts be ready to break, as mine breaks for those who are in need. And you will see the glory of your God in everything you do and say, and see and hear, for I am your Lord, I am your king. And I have unlimited resources and power and might to do whatever needs to be done, and I choose to do it through you.

10.19.2019

Covenant Members' Mini-Retreat

Kinday Toto

Here is what I sensed the Lord said as I prayed that morning and asked the Lord what he wanted to tell the community:

I am filling to overflow. I am giving you radical hearts to break poles, altars, and barriers between you and I; to be fearless to go where I send you. This is the year of fearlessness as proclaimed in this body at the beginning of the year.

11.02.2019

MOGC Women's Retreat

Elaine Schneider

My child, You see your faults. Acknowledge them as your own. Bring these weaknesses and sins to Me. I have already paid for them to be removed.

The consequences are worse in hiding from your sins. Hiding alienates you from Our Loving Father. Hiding alienates you from Me. Hiding alienates you from others and your growth in My love dwindles, is starved of water....life-giving water.

Jump into the stream of life-giving water. Refresh and revive life, eternal life.

My Spirit gives new life. Come and follow Me. Where I am, you also will be. Come.

I love you and I desire you to have life eternal.

11.03.2019

MOGC Women's Retreat

Elaine Schneider

My beloved ones, I call you forth to continue your song of praise from your hearts. I am your God whose love for you never ends. I dwell with you forever. Turn back to Me often and live in My Presence. I give you life unending and settle your soul.

Carry peace, My peace, to all you encounter. I desire to dwell in all hearts and bring my wayward children home to My heart.

Be a place of peace. Carry Me with you always. Come, my beloved, know My Peace.

11.17.2019

Nancy McCambridge

My children, as the heavens were opened and the Spirit of God came upon my Son and I exclaimed 'this is my Son whom I love, with Him I am well pleased,' the heavens have been opened for you my children and I declare over you that you are my son, you are my daughter whom I love and in whom I am well pleased. I have called you out of the world to be my special possession if you hearken to my voice and obey my covenant. I have called you out of the world for a special purpose that only you can fulfill. Say yes to me wholeheartedly and I will do a work in you that you would not believe possible. Say yes to me like your Blessed Mother. I need you. Trust your Father.

12.01.2019

Mark G.

My children, I give to you My gift of Everlasting Love. For I have loved you with an everlasting love, my eternal love. This love is not a small thing that you should ignore and have no awe.

Everlasting love is not powerless as some would believe, for it never changes or depletes. My everlasting love is always a new grace of highest heaven flowing into you. It is nothing you earn or grasp! Everlasting love is my gift to you this day from the very throne of God and is now deposited within you. Be touched, be transformed, refreshed in a fresh release of love. This love will heal and strengthen you now. My everlasting love changes you from power of yourself to the infinite power of God the Father. Receive my love.

12.15.2019

Elaine Schneider

Beloved one, I have come to give Life and fill you and all with the abundant life of My Father's Kingdom. I have given examples and you are using the gifts of My Holy Spirit to learn from Me in many occasions and in many ways. This brings you more JOY to share with others. This is Kingdom living.

Fill up and flow out--- Keep sharing the joys of life as you experience more and more. Be aware of the needs of others around you. Be sensitive to the time; be sensitive to the need. Give as your heart leads. Give with love.

I am with you always. I love you.